Cookie Notice

1. What is this Notice about?

This cookie notice (the “Cookie Notice”) describes the usage, by CIES – International Centre for Sport Studies (“CIES”, “We” or “Us”), of cookies on its website www.cies.ch (the “Website”).

“Cookies” are small pieces of data that a website asks your browser to store on your computer or mobile device. Cookies contain an identifier (a string of letters and numbers) that is sent by a web server to a web browser and is stored by the browser. The identifier is then sent back to the server each time the browser requests a page from the server. Cookies do not typically contain any information that personally identifies a user, but personal information that We store about you may be linked to the information stored in and obtained from Cookies. The identifier itself may be considered as personal information regarding you.

Cookies can be used by web servers to identify and track users as they navigate different pages on a website and identify users returning to a website.

Please read this Notice carefully to understand how We use Cookies on our Website. Please also note that this Notice is part of the CIES Privacy Notice, which explains more broadly how We process your personal data.

2. Categories of Cookies

Cookies may be either "persistent" Cookies or "session" Cookies. Sessions Cookies will be erased when you close your browser, whereas “persistent” Cookies will remain on your computer/device/web browser and will remain valid until its set expiry date, unless deleted by the user before the expiry date.

In addition, a distinction is usually made between the following categories of Cookies:

- Essential Cookies: They are essential for you to be able to experience the full functionality of our Website. Essential Cookies allow us especially to maintain user sessions and prevent any security threats. They are not used in order to collect or store any of your Personal data. These are Cookies that are required for the operation of the Website.
- Statistics Cookies: These Cookies store statistical information such as the number of visitors on the Website, the pages that are visited, the source of the visit, etc. Statistics Cookies also help Us understand and analyze how our Website performs and where it needs improvement. We also use Google Analytics Cookies as detailed further down of this Cookie Notice.
- Marketing Cookies: These Cookies are used to personalize and serve advertisements.
- Functional Cookies: These are the Cookies that may help certain non-essential functionalities of the Website. These functionalities include embedding content like videos or sharing contents, as well as preference cookies that help us store your settings and browsing preferences (language preferences, etc.), so that you have a better and efficient experience on our Website.

Google Analytics in particular

The Website uses Google Analytics, an Internet site analysis service supplied by Google Inc. ("Google"). Google Analytics uses Cookies which are text files placed on your computer to help to analyse how the Website is used by its users. The Personal data generated by the Cookies concerning your use of the Website will be forwarded to, and stored by, on servers located in Ireland.

We have set the parameters of Google Analytics in order to anonymize all IP addresses that are collected in this context. Hence, no personal information that may allow to identify you is stored through this system.

Google will use this information to evaluate your use of the Website, compile reports on site activity for its publisher and provide other services relating to the activity of the Website and the use of the internet. Google may release these information to Third-parties if there is a legal obligation to do so or when the Third-parties process this data for the account of Google including, in particular, the publisher of the Website. Google will not cross-reference your IP address with any other data held by Google, especially as it is anonymized from its collection.

Google Analytics collects information anonymously. It reports website trends without identifying individual visitors. You can opt out of Google Analytics without affecting how you visit or use the Website. For more information on Google Analytics, please click here. You may deactivate the use of Cookies by selecting appropriate parameters. However, deactivation of this kind might prevent the use of certain functions of the Website.

Embedded content

Please note that, to enrich our Website's content, We may sometimes embed content from third-party websites (such as content from social media's plug-ins, press releases, etc.). As a result, when you visit a page with content embedded, you may be presented with Cookies from these third-party websites. In order to ensure at best your privacy, we have implemented a double-click system, by which the embedded content is only activated when You choose to play it. In such a case however, the third-party websites might release their Cookies. We have no control or liability over these Cookies, so you should check the relevant third party's Cookie notice for more information.
